The course challenge exam for HPR 1040 – Comprehensive Medical Terminology, will be offered 4 times during the 2024-2025 academic year. Please see the dates and deadlines for each exam listed above. Credit for the exam will be awarded for the semester in which it is taken.

Below is the list of competencies which the course is required to cover. The challenge exam is designed to test for proficient knowledge in each of the competencies.

REQUIRED COURSE LEARNING OUTCOMES:

1. Combine basic to complex elements to build medical terms.
2. Define an extensive list of root words with proficiency.
3. Analyze words structurally by defining their elements and meaning.
4. Define and discuss terms related to body systems.
5. Define and discuss terms related to physiology.
6. Define terms related to support ancillary services.
7. Categorize medical abbreviations, symbols, and terms used in medical specialties.
8. Demonstrate correct spelling and pronunciation of both medical terms and terms related to human disease.
9. Define key terminology relevant to human diseases and disorders.
10. Demonstrate orally the ability to translate medical terminology into layman's terminology.

A score of 70% or better will be considered a passing score. There will be NO rounding of final scores (ie. a 69.8% would not be considered a passing score). This challenge exam may only be attempted once.
